RULES OF ENGAGEMENT

ORDER PROCESS: Since our entire collection is made to order, we do not place the order until we receive all necessary dress information and payment in full. Due to the complexity in sizing and colors for each order, both the order and policy forms must be filled out in full, signed, and returned to us before we can place the order. Each bride/bridesmaid must confirm style, name, number and color with the designers charts that is provided by ...And Something Blue and take full responsibility for verifying all ensemble details listed within the form with the custom order book. Once order has already been placed, your order may not be changed in any way.

SIZES: ...And something Blue staff can assist with measurements, but does not take responsibility for final size or length decisions. All dresses are made to standard sizes and ordered by size only. If your measurements fall between standard sizes, we recommend sizing up so you can have your cake and eat it too! As a rule it is easier to take in than to let out a garment. Any alterations to the dress are not included in the price of the garments.

FABRICS: If you are ordering ensembles made from hand-woven silk textiles, they may contain variations and irregularities, which are characteristics of fine silk yarn. These characteristics enhance the natural beauty of the fabrics and should in no way be treated as "defects". Please be advised that the color of the finished garment may differ slightly from the swatches due to different dye lots.

STYLE: From time to time, slight changes are made to the dress styles, which may not be reflected in the photographs on the website or in the sample. These may include placement of boning, length of skirt, style or placement of strap, or the presence or absence of a strap.

DRESS DELIVERY: At a minimum, please allow at least 12 weeks for delivery (this may be longer for wedding gowns). Please allow extra time for necessary alterations.

RUSH ORDERS: Some designers may be able to accommodate shorter time frames so please let us know if you are in a pinch!

SHIPPING: Please note that delivery charges are additional and the customer is responsible for all shipping costs.

RETURN POLICY: ...And Something Blue is not responsible for dresses that have left the store after a thorough inspection and have been in the customer's possession. No returns or exchanges – ALL SALES ARE FINAL!

FUN: I will hit the dance floor with booty shaking-shaking enthusiasm. Catch the bouquet!

I understand and agree with all terms stated in this Policy Form. I understand that as this dress, gown or accessory is made specifically for me, there will be NO cancellations, refunds or exchanges for any item ordered. Brown Eyed Girl is not responsible for any alterations that may be necessary to any garment after delivery.
